your personal and relationship sectors, signalling potentially far-reaching developments in these areas, especially if you were born early or mid-September. All Virgos will find this an exciting time; and excellent for clearing out the old, and welcoming the new. In October, a decision will create the chance to establish more harmony in life.

LIBRA

Venus in your sign until September 23rd, and the New Moon on October 1 will revitalise your sense of self, bringing you closer to a sense of satisfaction than you've felt all year. And, where you've been struggling to establish a healthy routine that works, October's events could be ideal, bringing a feel-good factor you've missed. Jupiter in your sign will bring the fun back into life too.

SCORPIO

You'll feel truly motivated to spend time with those you love and admire - at home and at work - creating the potential for deepening family ties, and also the chance to re-evaluate where you see yourself heading work-wise. September's eclipses will re-connect you with your deeper, more passionate self; and October's events will promote the chance to re-invent your work and daily routine.

SAGITTARIUS

The next two months could be pivotal, especially career-wise and regarding your status and connections with organisations and friends. Luckily, Saturn in your sign will help you to make great progress. In October, developments concerning family, your creative projects and involvement with particular friends will determine how you initiate an uplifting change at home.

CAPRICORN

While you're known for your ability to work hard, and to be diligent in your goals and vision, the next two months really will open doors to exciting developments that may be outside the realm of your everyday experience. Long-distance travel, study, spiritual endeavours or even legal matters will ask that you're clear about what you wish to accomplish: and then you will.

AQUARIUS

Get set to step into an altogether new appraisal of your circumstances. For many, this will arise through better management of your finances; for others, through deeper and clearer relationships. All Aquarians will benefit from stepping into an altogether more proactive stance towards people in your environment; and then an uplifting development in October really will boost your mood.

PISCES

September's eclipses will bring change to a key relationship and, at the very least, to your approach to someone at home or at work. This is an excellent time to boost health, dietary and fitness considerations. Keep an eye on your budget, as overspending can lead to long-term debt in October. A lovely development end of October is sure to boost your spirits.

ARIES

Get set for considerable developments at work and regarding your work-life balance. It's important to implement a sound health and fitness routine, as high energy levels will be necessary to keep pace with developments. September will be a particularly busy month, with October bringing potential changes to your relationship status - and more passion for couples.

TAURUS

September's eclipses may highlight the differences in a relationship, rather than your common ground. With hard work, your diligence will pay off, so avoid throwing in the towel or making rash decisions with far-reaching consequences without due consideration. But if a tough call must be made, October is the time to instigate changes that will promote more peace and harmony.

GEMINI

Get set to turn a corner, especially regarding a contract, a written venture or business negotiation. For some, the next two months are more about adventure, travel and generally deepening your understanding of your neighbourhood; and of yourself in the process. A better appreciation of your own talents and interests will promote improved relationships and also better prospects.

CANCER

September's eclipses will put the spotlight on your principles; on your self-esteem and on what - and who - you value the most in life now. For some, this indicates considerable financial developments; for others, changes in your personal circumstances. In October, you'll get the chance to put practical plans in motion that build more stability and yet also provide more variety in life.

LEO

Decisions to do with home, family and a property are best faced with a long-term view. Avoid impulsive reactions, especially in September and, if you're looking for spontaneity, or a burst of freedom in life, avoid giving up something far more precious than a little freedom of movement. October's highlights will ask that you evaluate what is truly important: quality of life or money.
