THE SCOPE - SEPTEMBER

ARIES

Get set for a fresh chapter in your work and daily routine. With Mars in your house of status, career and group work, you should shine this springtime. You're likely to feel more dynamic and focussed on purposeful work. The New Moon on October 9 will then help you to refresh partnerships and collaborations, so be bold and take projects to the next level in October.

TAURUS

You will appreciate the chance over coming months to re-consider your decisions and the recent actions you've taken, so it's a perfect time to ensure you're still happy with the path you've chosen. A focus in September on health and beauty will boost your prospects. By the end of October, you'll be happy to take action with a fresh routine or plan – if not immediately, then in the New Year.

GEMINI

A fresh contract, understanding or the chance to take a trip somewhere ideal will appeal to you in September. Take the initiative and try something new. And with Venus in sexy Scorpio from early September onwards, get set for a sizzling love life. A collaboration, business or personal, could add stability to your life, so take the initiative and find ways to liaise and co-operate.

CANCER

Key events this springtime will ask that you evaluate your priorities – and also where in life you're happy to invest money. You may find that a fresh contract or financial agreement takes you into a new realm. A property, family or domestic circumstance may be the focus of considerable events that stir your emotions.

LEO

Communications should improve vastly over the next two months, so this is an excellent phase to set bright ideas and plans in motion. A trip or the incentive to go beyond your usual frame of reference will highlight where in life you will feel more content. Follow your feelings where they create contentment. Finally, get set to rearrange an agreement, business or personal.

LIBRA

Venus in Libra will spotlight the sense in September that balance must have priority in your life. However, you may need to exercise strength of character to ensure this occurs. Prepare for life to get busier towards the end of September. Luckily, you'll feel revitalised by the Aries Full Moon on September 25 and the New Moon on October 9, especially in your close relationships.

SCORPIO

If you wish for more peace and progress in life, these are the two months to achieve it. As Pluto, your sign's ruler, ends a lengthy retrograde phase, you'll begin to sense that the changes you have made in your life are coming together. The New Moon on October 9 will provide the sense that you can gain more balance in your life now, largely due to your own past hard work.

SAGITTARIUS

Over the next two months, you may resume a friendship, or even hear from an ex. Some Sagittarians may simply catch up with yourself: with your own preferences in life; you may simply feel introspective and gain insight into where your true path lies ahead. Be ready to put a practical plan in motion. Avoid secrecy; the cat's always likely to get out of the bag.

CAPRICORN

You'll regain a sense of direction this springtime, and this will be a relief if you've found the winter a little lack-lustre. You'll particularly feel motivated to work collaboratively with the people who inspire you, bringing a more settled feeling to matters that have been up in the air for some time.

AQUARIUS

Early in September, you may wish for a particular outcome, despite a set of circumstances already being in place. Negotiating a fresh understanding or commitment could work in your favour. By mid-October, you should have reached an acceptable agreement. The process will spotlight where in life you must make compromises – and these will paradoxically be for your own well-being.

PISCES

Get set to turn a new leaf; for February Fish, this will be in relation to a partnership (business or personal) and, for March Fish, regarding work or health. You may discover that your priorities become different to those you initially fought for, so ensure you maintain perspective this springtime. take the initiative.

VIRGO

Once chatterbox Mercury joins the Sun in Virgo from September 6, you'll feel increasingly stimulated to network and socialise; and also to boost your health and appearance around the Virgo New Moon on September 10. The next two months represent an ideal opportunity to put practical ideas in motion. Ensure you know your mind and avoid being overtly influenced by trends.
